

New

Queen Mum™

Agapanthus orientalis 'PMN06'

- Large white and blue dual coloured flower heads
- Low seed viability

Queen Mum is a new Agapanthus orientalis. It has excellent disease tolerance. Queen Mum is also very drought, frost, humidity and heat tolerant. It grows up to 1.5 metres tall and is best suited to open sunny positions. Although it won't flower as good, Queen Mum tolerates shady positions. Remove spent flower heads as required and dispose of them correctly if near bushland. Queen Mum is ideal for a waterwise garden. It looks good in a patio pot or as a border. Queen Mum has extra large dual colour flower heads. These clusters bloom in summer. It also displays glossy green strap like foliage to compliment its stunning flowers.

HARDY
EXOTIC
RANGE

DESCRIPTION Extra large white and blue flower heads
HEIGHT & WIDTH 1.5 m x 1.2 m
POSITION Full sun to shade
CARE Remove spent flower heads as required
USES Garden beds, borders, patio pots, planter boxes
SOIL TYPE Most soil types

